

JAWA Motorcyclist

Jawa Pionyr

In the spring of 2007, the Czech motorcycle endurance racer-Jaroslav Šíma (not pictured above!!) was selected to ride a new Jawa Pionyr 50cc moped developed in the Czech Republic by Motoscoot to the biggest European motorcycle event in the Portuguese city of Faro. The bike was carefully checked and prepared for the 6000km long trip. Starting from Prague, and going through the Pyrenees, which they had not originally planned to do, due to the smooth ride without problems, he arrived in Faro too early. It was decided to visit the continent of Africa. The two day trip to the Morocco desert was astonishing and proved the reliability of the small bike. Unfortunately he had to go quickly back to Europe to attend the show in Faro.

At the Faro event, Jaroslav and the Pionyr were given the award for "Most distance traveled on the least powerful motorcycle". On the way back to the Czech Republic, Jaroslav decided to show that this small engine with low consumption can do a lot more. Alpine passes were completed. One by one, meter by meter the famous Grossglockner hill and next the Edelweispitze hill which is even 100m higher (2571m) were crossed.

After a month of traveling, both Jaroslav Šíma and the Jawa Pionyr arrived home. It was remarkable performance for the rider and also an excellent test of reliability and performance of the motorcycle. Total distance covered was 8380km in sea areas, African sand and big mountains with only one problem. A blown headlight bulb!
